

For Immediate Release:

MARION, OHIO – October 11, 2021 – Nachurs Alpine Solutions® (NAS), announced today that it has launched a new product line in their agriculture portfolio, Advanced Adjuvants.

Matt Cimino, Adjuvants Manager, will lead the introduction of the new Advanced Adjuvants brand into the marketplace. Adjuvants are increasingly becoming products of necessity for growers to increase their performance and safe application of today's crop protection products.

Building on the foundational strengths developed over 75 years in the agricultural marketplace with NACHURS branded fertility products, Advanced Adjuvants brings that same dedication to quality, integrity and innovation that customers have grown to expect from a trusted supplier.

Advanced Adjuvants enters the marketplace with both unique proprietary adjuvants and proven industry standard adjuvant formulations to ensure maximum performance and value from both crop protection and fertility products. Our partnerships with industry leading formulators and chemists ensure a consistent stream of products to meet the ever changing environmental, stewardship and sustainability goals of today's customer.

To learn more about NAS' full line of adjuvant products, please contact Matt Cimino, 512-450-8090, mcimino@nachurs.com or visit the Advanced Adjuvants website at www.advancedadjuvants.com.
